Research Study

What

Huntington's disease Research Opportunity

We are researching brain activation during

Rush University
Medical Center

Armour Academic Facility Suite 505 Chicago, IL 60612

Jelke Building Suite 871 1750 W. Harrison Street Chicago IL, 60612

vviidt	cognitive, balance, and walking assessments in people with Huntington's disease.
	You will be asked to:
	 Have your balance and walking tested while wearing multiple sensors on the outside of your clothing and a brain imaging cap Perform a series of thinking tasks and functional balance tests Have a short neurological examination
Who	Males and females at least 30 years of age with a clinical diagnosis of Huntington's disease
Length	Testing will last approximately 3.5 hours
Requirements	 Participants must: Have a clinical diagnosis of manifest Huntington's disease (with ≥40 CAG repeats) Be ≥ 30 years of age Have the ability to :1) Balance and ambulate unaided for 5 minutes and 2) Follow step-by-step directions. Participants must Not: Have had any lower limb orthopedic surgery within the past year. Have any other neurological/musculoskeletal disorders that affect balance or gait.
	 Have a history of significant head trauma.
	Trave a motory of significant from traumar
Compensation	Participants will NOT be compensated for participation in this study